Introduction

First Peoples' Cultural Council

The First Peoples' Cultural Council (FPCC) was established in 1990 through the First Peoples' Heritage, Language and Culture Act and is mandated to support the revitalization of First Nations' languages, arts and cultures in British Columbia. FPCC is a unique Crown Corporation governed by a Board of up to 13 B.C. First Nations representatives. FPCC administers three programs: the Heritage Program, the Language Program and the Arts Program. The Heritage Program was established in 2019 to support the safeguarding, transmission and revitalization of Indigenous cultures and heritage. It focuses on the following three goals:

- 1. Capacity: Indigenous communities have the tools, training, staff and spaces to be stewards of their cultural heritage.
- 2. Stewardship: Indigenous communities have programs, funding and autonomy to be stewards of their cultural heritage.
- 3. Leadership: The rights of Indigenous Peoples' to be stewards of their cultural heritage is recognized and affirmed, and Indigenous expertise is valued.

Grant Overview

Grant Objective

The objective of the Braided Knowledge: Weaving B.C. First Nations' Knowledge Through Generations grant is to support projects that revitalize and focus on the wholistic and integrated nature of B.C. First Nations' arts, languages, and heritage. Funding support for arts, languages, and heritage has typically been siloed to each individual practice, yet these practices are interwoven and interdependent. This grant acknowledges the connections of these three areas and will facilitate projects that align with Indigenous ways of knowing and being.

The Braided Knowledge grant supports B.C. First Nation community projects that weave together their arts, languages, and heritage. With an emphasis on mentoring and apprenticeship, this grant helps ensure the protection, transmission, and intergenerational knowledge transfer of B.C. First Nations' languages, arts, and heritage.

Grant Description

Arts, languages, and cultural heritage are interwoven strands that underpin B.C. First Nations' cultures and worldviews. Indigenous wisdom and ways of being are embedded within language, art, and cultural practices, and connection to place and the protection of the land is expressed through stories and artistic practices and is encoded within language and legal traditions.

The Braided Knowledge grant is the first of its kind in Canada. It aims to support projects that demonstrate these interconnections, leading to outcomes that are essential to the revitalization of B.C. First Nation cultures.

An important element of the Braided Knowledge grant is the requirement for mentorship and knowledge transfer. Projects will enable the transfer of essential knowledge to new generations. Through this, the grant will support B.C. First Nation Peoples in reconnecting with their heritage and will build connections between generations.

Eligible Projects

Eligibility for this grant is purposefully broad, to allow for innovative and creative project proposals. Projects should weave together elements of arts, languages and heritage. Additionally, all projects must demonstrate a mentorship component*, in which cultural knowledge and practical skills are passed on from expert knowledge holders, fluent speakers, and artists to younger learners.

*Please note, mentorship/apprenticeship involves long-term learning opportunities that span the duration of the project.

Examples of eligible projects include, but are not limited to:

- Projects that link public art, storytelling, and cultural teachings.
- A place name project that incorporates language, cultural heritage information, storytelling and art.
- Apprenticeships and mentorships between Elders, knowledge keepers, and community members.
- Projects that demonstrate the relationship between stories, songs, place names, cultural heritage sites, and landscapes.
- Projects that develop tools and materials that will help safeguard B.C. First Nations' languages, arts and cultural heritage.

Grant Criteria

Eligibility Documentation

What kind of documentation is needed to confirm eligibility?

FPCC is committed to accountability and transparency in the delivery of funding to B.C. First Nations, as expressed in our mandate and vision. We welcome funding applications from organizations that are not recognized B.C. First Nations governments, provided they meet the eligibility guidelines outlined above.

FPCC Program staff may contact you to request some or all of the following information to accompany your application. This information will help us better understand your organization, its mandate, and how it operates, so that we can support you through the funding process. If requested, this information must be provided before a Funding Agreement can be issued.

- Societies and organizations may be asked to provide documentation confirming their legal name, and a list of the organization's current Board of Directors and/or governance structure. Please note that FPCC requires that at least 75% of members of Boards of Directors are members of recognized B.C. First Nations to be eligible for funding through FPCC grant programs.
- Registered societies may be asked to provide their certificate of good standing; certificate of registration; a copy of the organization's bylaws and constitution; and proof of insurance.
- FPCC values the collective gathering and sharing of resources. For projects in which oral history, intellectual properties, and cultural properties are gathered and/or shared, applicants may be asked to provide information that will demonstrate how the information or item will be gathered or obtained, and how ownership, copyright and intellectual and cultural properties rights will be recognized and upheld now and into the future.

Collaboration is Encouraged

FPCC strongly encourages collaboration. Only one application (per grant program) per Band Office, Tribal Council or Society/Organization will be eligible for funding. If more than one application from the same Band Office, Tribal Council or Society/Organization is submitted, the Peer Review Committee will decide which proposal will receive funding, so it is strongly advised that applicants collaborate and submit one unified proposal. This demonstrates that there is support and consensus for the proposed project, as well as being inclusive and designed with long-term goals in mind.

General Requirements

Applications will not be reviewed unless all necessary information is provided. Applicants must submit completed applications that include the following:

- A balanced project budget with detailed descriptions and cost breakdowns for each category
 - A thorough workplan with dates for key activities
